FOR ABDUCTING A WHITE GIRL.

Charge Upon Which a Negro Evangelist Is in Goshen Jail.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Oct. 18 .- Harrison Garner, a negro evangelist, is in Goshen jail on a charge of abducting Emma Lain, a sixteen-year-old white girl, whose parents live at Oxford Depot. Garner was employed by a farmer last week and went way Sunday to bring his wife. He returned with the white girl and her three small brothers. The five occupied one room with a single bed in it all night, and in the morning the farmer's wife found that the supposed wife was a small girl, who, upon being questioned, broke down and said that the negro exercised a hypnotic control over her and forced her to leave her home and take her brothers with her. The authorities were notified, but in the mean time the negro and white girl fled. They were found in a deserted house near by by an angry crowd of farmers, who were about to lay hold of the negro when the afficers arrived and took him into custody. Garner was in trouble once before, but several years ago "got religion" and joined the Salvation Army. He has since posed as a miss onary.

A Show of Men's Neckwear

Perfectly novel. You should see it. In the Men's Furnishing Store, Ninth street and Broadway. It is a fact that no man using the finest made-to-order neckwear can afford to miss this exhibition. It requires too much room to be continued beyond a few days. Hundreds of the best English and French silk novelties. Simultaneous exhibition affords the only opportunity for accurate comparison and perfectly intelligent selection.

Made-up Four-in-hand Neck-Ties exhibited in hundreds of styles, varying in price from $2 to 25 cents. And yet, with all the show, hundreds more are not displayed.

It is asserted without fear of truthful contradiction, that no other store in Paris, London, New York, Chicago, or any other city, can equal this showing.

Men's Cutaway Frock Suits

A great many men prefer a Cutaway Frock Coat to the Prince Albert; because it is quite dressy and in good form to take pride in displaying in this season, while being a little this old store. less formal than the Prince Albert.

We have these black Cutaway Frock Coat Suits, made up in the same handsome and ship, such as women of artistic perfect manner as our Prince taste in matters of dress will Albert Coats. Men who are not familiar with WANAMAKER Dress Suits will scarcely realize how smart and handsome these bands; those of heavier weights ready-made Suits can be made are in galons, appliques and in by WANAMAKER methods.

The collars are perfect-fitting; effects. the shoulders are broad and the shoulders are broad and handsomely made; the lines at the waist and skirt are as the waist are as the waist and skirt are as the waist are graceful as if a custom tailor had cut them. SULLY CHEERFUL IN POVERTY. Reckons His Daughter Must Have Traded

That $20,000 Auto for Another. Daniel J. Sully was the only witness yesterday at the Sully bankruptcy proceedings, in the office of Referee Macgrane Coxe, 63

Counsel for the creditors asked Mr. Sully Counsel for the creditors asked Mr. Sully about the so-called Peg account of 1,000 bales of cotton on his books. Mr. Sully said that Peg or Paig, he didn't know how it was spelled, was some friend of his wife's whom he had never met. He said that he had never asked Mrs. Sully who the person was. He was asked also to explain an entry showing the purchase of 21,600 bales of cotton under the account of "Cohr and Sully joint."

After considerable questioning he admitted that the purchase was one for his own personal account. Mr. Sully finally admitted that he and Cohr didn't have a joint account and that he was unable to explain the entry.

Ernest E. Baldwin, the lawyer for one of the creditors, tried to learn something about a $20,000 automobile that Mr. Sully had owned. Sully said that he didn't know what had become of the machine, but he thought his daughter had traded it off for another. He said that he had carried about $500,000 life insurance, mostly in the larger companies, but that the policies had now been assigned to Mrs. Sully. When asked who paid the premiums he said:

"Mrs. Sully, I suppose, I haven't any money to pay them."
